PURPOSE

The purpose of this is to procure and develop and implement of a formal IT security user awareness and training program.

BACKGROUND

Threat actors focusing on your employees means security awareness training is needed. Security awareness training is a form of education that seeks to equip members of an organization with the information they need to protect themselves and their organization's assets from loss or harm.

One out of six audit findings for the period 01 April 2020 to 31 March 2021 listed in the Risk Management Internal Audit Report dated 24 June 2021 was a Lack of training and awareness campaigns.

The Internal Auditor and risk management report of 2021 identified a requirement for Freedom Park to develop and implement an IT security user awareness and training program as outlined by IT/IS security policy. In response to the above, the CIO office has since conducted an IT and security phishing awareness test on 20 September 2021 on the trial version of software and will now want to procure and establish the requirement for development and implementation of a formal IT security user awareness and training program.

The next step will be to schedule a frequent organization-wide awareness training and phishing tests to all Freedom Park employees, management, and groups. In addition to the above training and phishing tests, employees will also be informed of the procedure for reporting phishing emails. The end goal is to develop and install an IT security aware culture throughout Freedom Park to ensure that all Freedom Park employees are empowered and are part of the Freedom Park effort in fighting against IT and Cyber security threats to information resources. In addition to the above training and phishing tests, employees will also be informed of the procedure for reporting phishing emails.

Why security awareness training is needed

Employees are the weak link in your IT security. Social engineering is the number one security threat to any organization. The alarming growth in sophisticated cyber-attacks makes this problem only worse. Employees cannot be expected to know what threats exist or what to do about them on their own. They need to be taught what their employers consider risky or acceptable, what clues to look for that indicate threats, and how to respond when they see them

Below are just some of the basic security hygiene guidelines that Freedom Park should follow and implement properly, they could significantly reduce the likelihood of infection by ransomware or any other future type of attacks:

- Implement a reputable AV solution and ensure that all PCs, laptops, and mobile devices are kept up to date with the latest versions and signatures.
- Implement a means to keep all devices patched with the latest versions and patches for all key software employed on those computers.
- Block all outgoing I2P and other peer-to-peer network traffic at the firewall to prevent infected computers communicating with their masters and receiving further instructions.
- Subscribe to a reliable threat intelligence source which will regularly update you with details of malicious and suspicious URLs, domains, and IP addresses on the Internet. Access to these malicious and suspicious URLs, domains, and IP addresses should then be blocked.
- Install ad-blocking software on your firewall to prevent infections via malicious ads on websites.
- Disable ActiveX content in the Microsoft Office Suite of applications. Many computer viruses use macros to take advantages of ActiveX and download malware onto the vulnerable PC.
- Look at ways to block executable files from the %APPDATA% and %TEMP% paths on computers with the Microsoft Windows OS installed. These folders are often used by malicious software to download and execute files
- For Windows-based computers use Software Restriction Policies to allow only authorized software to run on your computers.
- Remove local admin access to Windows-based computers, and the equivalent for other operating systems, to minimize the likelihood of malware being installed on the device by the user.
- Look at ways to segment your network so that you can control network traffic or isolate parts of your network to contain an outbreak.
- Run regular security awareness training campaigns to enable users to identify and deal with potential threats.

The goal of security awareness training is to arm your employees with the knowledge they need to combat these threats and instill an IT security aware culture throughout Freedom Park to ensure that all employees are empowered and are part of the Freedom Park effort in fighting against IT and Cyber security threats to Freedom Park information resources.
